DEAR FRIENDS,

This has been a tremendous year for St. Joseph’s Villa and the RiseUP Campaign, and we are so proud to share the results in our second Investor’s Report. Your leadership and support have spurred another year of growth and success, enabling us to move forward with our plans for campus renovations and the new Center for Autism as we enter the second half of the Campaign.

Thanks to your investment, the RiseUP Campaign has reached 55% of its $25 million comprehensive goal! This year’s extraordinary success would not have been possible without the Mary Morton Parson’s Foundation’s generous grant, and we especially thank all who “roseUP” to help us meet the $1.5 million challenge goal.

This spring, we had the honor of experiencing a watershed moment in Villa history when Mr. and Mrs. E. Claiborne Robins, Jr. made an unprecedented $1 million commitment to the Campaign. This transformational gift is already serving as an inspiration and catalyst, allowing the Villa’s Building Committee to accelerate plans and set a desired start date for construction on the Center for Autism of June 2019.

Next June can’t come soon enough! This year, our pioneering program grew to serve 84 students and is currently housed in three buildings across the campus. In order to sign final contracts and begin construction, we have committed to raising an additional $1 million in capital funds by next spring. It’s going to be a critical year for our work and the RiseUP Campaign, but with you on our team, we can’t wait to see what we achieve.

Sincerely,

John B. “Jack” Catlett, Jr., Campaign Chair
Kathleen Burke Barrett, CEO

CAMPAIGN UPDATE

- Campaign volunteers have hosted 150 individuals, foundations, and corporations for campus visits.
- More than 270 gifts and pledges have been committed.
- 70 community leaders and guests attended our Autism Awareness lunches.
- We are exploring 2 new university partnerships with Duke University and the University of Virginia.
- Our next benchmark goal of $7.5 million in capital funds by spring will allow us to break ground in June 2019.

CENTER FOR AUTISM UPDATE

- The CDC now reports that 1 in 59 children in the U.S. live with autism. That’s approximately 41,000 children in Virginia.
- 12 students have successfully transitioned back to their public schools.
- This year, our school grew from 65 to 84 students.
- Members of our Center for Autism team traveled to Paris to present original Villa outcomes and data at the Association for Behavioral Analysis International Conference.
- Our three-year strategic plan for the Center for Autism will be complete in August.
THE VILLA RECEIVED ITS FIRST-EVER GIFT OF $1 MILLION

The day we came to St. Joseph’s Villa, it was like worlds opened up.
